

An overview of the touch smart sleeve software. This figure shows the life cycle of the touch from the sender to receiver(s), and where in that life cycle data was collected. The communication between the sleeves is bi-directional. All connected sleeves can receive and send touches.

